The Place of Peacefulness

Connecting all people to the water

56 acres of pristine forest lies along the shores of Lake Michigan. This is the largest unprotected and undeveloped land from the Mackinac Bridge to Charlevoix with 1/4 mile of Lake Michigan shoreline.

From the shore, you can see all of Little Traverse Bay and the land that surrounds it: Bay Harbor, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, and northward.

With your help, this land will be open to all people to come and enjoy the peace of the woods and beauty of the water.

With your help, this land will be forever protected.

The nature preserve will be called Enji-minozhiiyaamigak, an Anishinaabemowin word for “The Place of Peacefulness”. This is an inclusive term, a place of serenity and calmness for all living things: people, animals, trees, plants, and everything there and passing through. When this land is protected, anyone driving along US-31 will see the sign for this preserve and know that it is a place for all.

Your Generosity, Your Legacy

$3.65M is needed to protect this land and build the trail. If you are interested in making a potentially tax deductible gift to Little Traverse Conservancy, contact Emily Hughes, Chief Development Officer, at emily@landtrust.org or 231.347.0991.

You can protect this land forever

Building a UA Trail

Imagine all people having access to the incomparable view of Lake Michigan. With a universally accessible trail through the woods of Enji-minozhiyaamigak, that's possible. Your gift will help to build:

- Approx. .47 mile of universally accessible trail, LTC's first UA trail on a nature preserve.
- Trail that combines crushed stone paths and winding boardwalks for the steeper grades.
- A viewing platform just above the rocky shoreline of Little Traverse Bay.
- An additional .36 mile loop.
